The road system on the entire Navajo Nation runs over 16, 000 miles. The new archaeologist position warrants to meet a portion of the department's goals and objectives by providing archaeology services to chapter communities, counties/state and federal agencies. There are also countless number of cultural resources that have not been recorded near and on the road system. The position will be assigned to one of the five agencies, as needed, and will report to the department daily. Also, the department will continue to increase a number of archaeology positions possible every fiscal year to meet the department goals by reducing the number of shortage of staff.
